Delivering Quality and Value

Aaron Radiators was founded in 1962 by William Stringer, and is celebrating 50 years manufacturing car radiators in its factory in Croydon. Now run by Bill's son, Gerald (after his father's death nearly five years ago), the company is still very much a family concern with his mother Jane and sister Laura working at the firm in Whitehorse Lane, SE25.

Classic Car Radiators

Nothing has changed on the vintage side of the company, which still reconditions and upgrades radiators for classic cars of any era (particularly Rolls Royce, Bentley and Aston Martin), which are still soldered using the same techniques as they were in the '60s. Any vintage car radiator can be upgraded with a much more efficient modern core than used originally; this ensures originality but with modern efficiency, particularly for cars that frequently have overheating problems.

Aluminium Radiators

Aaron Radiators also now manufactures Aluminium Radiators, Intercoolers and Oil-coolers from all British materials in-house for motor-cycles, custom cars and industrial applications and supply many Kit Car manufacturers. Bike radiators can be either repaired or re-cored and even classic car radiators can be copied in Aluminium to make an efficient, light cooling solution, particularly suited to racing and track events.

Their skilled craftsmen can recondition or build any vehicle radiator.
